5. Other Contacts

Personnel in the DDS&T have made numerous contacts with a large number of university employees for various purposes. These contacts are made to review with distinguished researchers the state-of-the-art of scientific and engineering disciplines, to discuss possible approaches and leads to the solutions of research problems, to assess scientific capabilities of individuals and organizations for possible contracts, and to maintain current knowledge of research being conducted in the academic world. Such contacts usually are on a one-time basis but some develop into continuing informal personal scientific relationships and some develop into contracts or formalized relationships. For most of these types of contacts, there is no record or files from which a meaningful list of personnel or the name of their university could be prepared.
